Event Description: Beginning about six weeks before the event, we will sell up to 500 numbered two-part tickets for $10.00 each. We anticipate that at least the top two or three prizes may be of equivalent value but appeal to different tastes. Therefore, ticket buyers will be given the opportunity to rank the prizes in order of preference. We will retain the part of the ticket with the number, buyer's name, contact information, and prize preferences; and the buyer will retain the part with the number. On the day of the event, the retained halves of all tickets sold will be placed in a box and shaken well. A small child will be designated to draw the number of tickets corresponding to the number of prizes, one at a time. The person whose ticket is drawn first will get his or her top choice among the prizes. Subsequent persons whose tickets are drawn will get their highest preference from the remaining prizes until all prizes are awarded.
