Each ticket stub sold is then sealed in a coin envelope and placed in a tumbler barrel. After all the ticket envelopes are counted and placed in the tumbler, the tumbler door is closed and the tumbler is spun before each ticket is drawn out. The tumbler is spin by an adult in attendance and the ticket is drawn out by a child in attendance. the ticket is opened by the president of the Backers and the ticket number and name is read out. The tickets are prized out one at a time, until we have reached the last ticket sold. Prices are awarded throughout the drawing as depicted on the application and documentation is recorded on the required state forms. The person with a winning ticket does not need to be present to win. The winning person is contacted by the treasurer who get with them to disperse the money to them.
