Event Description: On the day of the event, golf balls numbered/matching the tickets sold are loaded into a helicopter flown by a commercial pilot and crew who donate their time and the use of the helicopter. A large target is laid on the driving range with a golf hole as the winning spot. The balls are dropped from the helicopter onto the tarp, and the ball that lands either in the hold or closest to the hold is determined as the winner. If multiple balls land in the hold, the winner is the first ball to enter the hole (the one on the bottom). Alzheimer's Tennessee staff are on the driving range to measure the balls if one doesn't land in the hold and determine the winner. Another staff person has the ticket stubs to confirm the winner. The person does not have to be present to win.
