Event Description: All adopted ducks will be tagged with a unique computer generated random number on their underside. The stickers will be placed on all the ducks by staff and volunteers, who do not have access to the coinciding individual who adopted that particular duck. The ducks will then be loaded into a dump truck or similar container, to travel to the race site.

The ducks will be dropped from the Shelby pedestrian bridge or the Korean War Memorial Veterans Bridge into the Cumberland river. The ducks will then proceed down to the finish line. There will be a boat at the finish line, which will be monitored by an independent race official.

A celebrity "Marshall" for the duck race will "pluck" the ducks out of the chute in order. The winners do not have to be present to win.
